Widely Publicised Travellers Stop Here

Two young people, amply endowed with courage and the spirit of adventure, stopped over night in Raymond this week. They were Henry Mayhew and his wife Naree.

This young couple were so discouraged with the life that Fate was forcing upon them in London, England, that they decided to do something about it so last January they started correspondence with officials concerning entry into Canada as immigrants. On July 27, after nearly seven months of preparation, they set sail on the liner SS Columbia from Southampton and arrived in Quebec on Aug. 5.

So far it was only a routine voyage, much the same as thousands of new Canadians have experienced, but there the similarity came to an abrupt halt.

From there until they got to their destination in Edmonton these young folks were depending upon the power in their legs and in a small motor to carry them across most of the continent on a real tandem bicycle, "on a bicycle built for two".

A couple of accidents, one at Coppercliff and the other at Pembroke, Ont., marred their very pleasant trip and contributed to their final breakdown at Leeds, N. D. While the going was good they were able to average about one hundred miles a day with their top day taking them 195 miles.

They could do almost 20 m.p.h. on what was officially called in England their "motorized tandem" with side car. It was in this side car that they carried their essentials — extra gasoline, bed rolls, (for they slept out of doors).

Their tour took them through Montreal and Ottawa and to Sault Ste. Marie where they crossed into the States to take No. 2 Highway west. Along their way they were feted at several towns and cities and at Iron Mountain, Mich., they spoke of their experiences on the radio. At Bagley, Wis., the Chamber of Commerce put them up in a motel and treated them royally.

At Leeds their luck ran out and the tandem suffered a severe breakdown with parts for their English machine unobtainable in the States. This is where Raymond became connected with the story for it was here that Will Lappiere, who drives for Melchins, picked them up by bicycle and all and brought them here.

After a good nights sleep at the hotel the visitors were given a hearty breakfast and had their picture taken by Mose Fromm in front of our new Library to record what must be considered an unusual feat.

We were happy to have the opportunity of talking to these very friendly newcomers and found much of interest in what they had to say—maybe you will too!

The housing situation in England is by our standards, absolutely impossible. Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew were sharing their small flat with his sister and her children because there was no other solution to a very dire situation. Mr. Mayhew, told us that even if a person was lucky enough to find a flat, for rent it would cost anywhere from 50 to 100 £ as a consideration for the rental agent. Also there may be 200 or 300 £ worth of fixtures in the flat that would have to be bought.

Perhaps an explanation of the value of the English £ is in order—a shilling is worth about 15¢ and there are 20 to a £ so it is worth about $3.00. Mr. Mayhew was a skilled steel fabrication worker, a comparatively high priced job, and he was making £ 12 ($36) for a 67 hour week—whe! His hourly pay is rated at 35sd and it cost 35sd for 20 cigarettes. A gallon of gas costs 4sd. Each person in England can buy only 2oz. of butter a week and only 18¢ worth of meat. Each family is registered with a certain grocer and must buy all his goods from him — there is the right of changing grocers but not too much advantage because of all the rationing. Slowly, and the English people hope, surely things are going to be de-rationed and things may someday get back to normal although the average young person cannot remember too much of the good old care free pre-war days.

Gladys Says Hello

While on our holidays in Salt Lake I found it necessary to call at a financial institution to exchange a little of our good currency for some that people down there could recognize. A branch of the First Security Bank was closest and I, being a trifle on the heavy lazy side, made it my port of call. Glad I did too because I had a nice little visit with Gladys Holt who works there. She sends her best wishes back to everyone in the Sugar City.

FARMERS' STRIKE

I wonder what it would be like
 If all the farmers went on strike
 And just refused to plant a seed
 Or prune a tree or pull a weed?
 If staid old steadfast farmer Brown
 Would dress all up and go to town
 To loaf around and shoot the breeze
 Or sleep beneath the maple trees.
 And what would tiny babies do
 Under their coverlet of blue,
 If Mister Grey just turned his cows
 Out in the pasture field to browse?
 And went on strike for better pay
 Or shorter hours for his day
 That really lasts from sun to sun
 And yet his work is never done;
 And what would hungry people eat,
 If prairie farmer grew no wheat,
 And raised no hogs or lamb or beef,
 But just went living on relief?
 Starvation, ruin and disgrace
 Would stare the whole world in the face.
 I know that's what it would be like
 If farmers really went on strike.

A community springs up and, as it grows, a branch bank opens its doors. This pattern, basic in Canada's development, has been repeated again and again in pioneer areas, villages, towns and cities. Through local branches, the chartered banks bring to small communities, as well as large, the same broad range of banking service.

There are now 3,800 branches of Canada's chartered banks serving the banking needs of Canadians, 700 opened in the past ten years.

'JOHN BULL'

As Uncle Sam is to the United States, so John Bull is to England. Pictured as a typical oldtime English countryman, John Bull has been around for 40 years.

He appeared first in a pamphlet written by John Arbuthnot and published in 1712. Arbuthnot, a Scotsman, was court physician to Queen Anne. His pamphlet was meant as a satire on the activities of the Duke of Marlborough to whom he gave the name "John Bull." The name and personality of John Bull caught the public imagination. Today that bluff, genial Englishman personifies Britain the world around.

Before leaving for home, the Dennis Lafferty's motored to Castlegar to visit Mr. and Mrs. Renn Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greep. Unfortunately however they were in Vancouver attending the ball game; the team from Castlegar coached by Renn had won the Kootenay League and are now in Vancouver.
